Borrowing Money.

Borrowing money upon the installment plan is attended with these advantages: The loan can be repaid in small monthly payments, which include the interest and part of the principal, so that by the expiration of the term it can be all paid without any great inconvenience to the borrower; the rate of interest is generally lower; the expenses of obtaining the money are not so great as in ordinary loans; and if it is borrowed upon good paying property then it often happens that the borrower will meet the monthly installments and in time pay off the debt. For further and other particulars enquire of W. H. J. BROOKS, Agent for Savings and Loan Society, 1215 1/2 St. je24

Los Angeles Herald

FRIDAY, JUNE 25, 1875.

What the Herald Denounces.

The frantic efforts of the Express to persuade its readers that the HERALD is antagonistic to the Los Angeles and Independence railroad, are amusing if not convincing. We fully understand the motive of our cotemporary, and under the circumstances we can readily forgive its persistent misrepresentation of us. Senator JONES may swallow the bait and the purpose may be obtained, but we doubt if such an old bird will be caught with chaff. Meantime we advise the overzealous advocate to overhaul the HERALD files, and when he finds a line in our columns which can be construed into an opposition to the road, let him make a note of it. Not a line or a word to that effect can be shown. We have said that if Senator JONES and those associated with him in the building of this road, intend, as the authors of the "coming city," boasting assert that they will rob Los Angeles of her trade and destroy her and the Wilmington landing, that the money subscribed to the road by the citizens of this city, will not be paid, and do not hesitate to repeat this again and again. There is not the slightest danger that this boast will ever be carried into effect, but we accept the will for the deed and denounce the attempt as strongly as if there was danger that success would crown the effort. It is to the interest of all Los Angeles valley that the improvements in Wilmington Harbor which have progressed so far and have cost so much money shall be carried to completion; yet some scheming speculators in San Francisco are using Senator JONES' name and influence to convince the Government that the money already expended is thrown away and that further appropriations will be useless. We are opposed to this because it will injure our valley and city and we have expressed our disapprobation in strong language. But not a word has been said against the railroad. These same schemers, circulating the report that the town of one hundred thousand inhabitants which they and Senator JONES are going to build at Santa Monica, will destroy Los Angeles, have slightly depreciated real estate in this city; and if they are permitted to circulate these falsehoods without contradiction, they will shake the confidence of those not acquainted with the circumstances in the future growth and prosperity of our city. We have denounced these reports and their authors, and we shall continue to do so. But not a word has been said against the railroad.

LETTER FROM ORANGE.

The Festival at the Hotel Building—Crowder & Co.'s Store—The Close of School—A New Hardware Store—Shoemaker and Saddler Needed.

EDITOR HERALD: The festival at the hotel building last Friday evening was a decided success. There was a good large turn-out of Orange people, and quite a number of friends were present from Los Angeles, Santa Ana and Anaheim. The wants of the inner man were properly attended to by an indefinite quantity of ice-cream, strawberries, oysters, confections and other goodies. Prof. Lewis and others entertained the company with many musical selections that were highly appreciated. When the evening was far spent, notwithstanding the fact that this was a very strict and proper festival, somehow those violins got to work, and for a brief season the order was—
"Come and trip it as you go,
On the light fantastic toe."
Altogether, the occasion was thoroughly harmonious and enjoyable. The new store of CROWDER & CO. is doing nicely. The representative man of the firm, Mr. Crowder, is a gentleman, and deserves the cordial support of the people. He is a temperance man and stood by the people during the late contest. The school will close on Wednesday, June 30th, the last day of the school year, with a grand picnic up in the Santiago Cañon. The young people here never do things by halves and one of the finest picnics of the season may be expected. Mr. Furlong reports the examinations now in progress as unusually good and considers the school term now closing as the most successful since he took charge of the school. We understand that Messrs. Mallett and Eaton are about to open a hardware store in Dr. Beach's building. This has been needed for a long time, and cannot fail to be a successful business enterprise. Two men are badly needed in Orange, and if you meet them, or either of them, send them along. One of these is a shoemaker by trade, and the other a saddle and harness maker. We want good workmen, and good workmen will find immediate and abundant patronage. None other need apply. I heard one of the boys singing in rather a lugubrious manner last Sunday a refrain like this: If you want to keep up with the Orange girls, You've got to put on style. The above-mentioned shoemaker and saddler will please "make a note of this." W. Orange, June 22, 1875.

Merced Theatre To-Night.

"Under the Gas-Light," a noted sensation drama, will be put on the stage to-night at Merced Theatre, by the Denin-Sawtelle troupe, in metropolitan style. This piece had a tremendous run at the New York Theatre and will be presented here with all the machinery and paraphernalia which made its success in the East. We urge our readers to go early and secure a seat for this vivid representation of life by gas-light in the great metropolis.

Beach Closes His Argument.

New York, June 23d.—Beach concluded his argument to-day in the Fifth-Street court, and made a motion to re-open the case to hear newly discovered evidence. The Court reserves its decision until to-morrow morning.

On the War-Path.

St. Louis, June 23d.—In an interview with the Times reporter, Senator Ingalls stated that he was opposed to Grant as a candidate for the Presidency. He said he could not carry one State in the Union. Kansas was dead set against him. Grierson, of Kentucky, was the strongest candidate in the Republican party, and in his opinion would be the next President. He believes the Republicans can elect their man without difficulty.

Wool Market.

Boston, June 23d.—Wool is unchanged; the demand is steady but moderate. New California is arriving quite frequently. Stocks are accumulating. The sales of Ohio and Pennsylvania fleeces are at 55¢/30¢; Michigan and Wisconsin fleeces, 47¢/50¢; unwashed combing and delaine, including new Kentucky, 43¢/47¢; super and X pulled wools quiet at 55¢/37¢.

The Independent Convention.

SACRAMENTO, June 22.—The Convention re-assembled at 1:30 p. m. A resolution was adopted that the State Central Committee consists of one from each Judicial District, elected by delegates, and several to be appointed by the Chair. Nominations for Secretary of State were then ordered. Jas. C. Cary, of San Francisco, and W. Roush, of Placer were placed in nomination. On vote it was announced that Cary received the nomination by 144 to 38. Subsequently it was discovered that the figures should have been reversed. The vote was then made and Roush declared the nominee. For Controller, Lawrence E. Crane, of Sierra county, nominated by acclamation. For Treasurer, Ferdinand Bepi, of Shasta, present incumbent, nominated by acclamation. For Attorney General, Peter Van Clief, of Yuba county, and J. D. Love of San Francisco, were placed in nomination. On vote, Van Clief received the nomination. For Surveyor General, E. Twichell, of Sacramento, was nominated on second ballot over Wade, Eastern having been withdrawn. For Clerk of Supreme Court, Paul Morrill, formerly of the Sacramento District, was nominated by acclamation, with cheers. For Superintendent of Public Instruction, H. Carey of San Francisco was placed in nomination, but declined. The choice fell on J. W. Guinn, of Los Angeles county, by acclamation.

SACRAMENTO, June 23.—The delegates tendered General Bidwell a reception this evening and afterwards the company, with the band, serenaded Senator Booth. Addresses were made by Booth, Bidwell, Pacheco, Estee and others.

The delegates of the Third Congressional District met after the Convention adjourned and nominated for Congress Chas. F. Reed, of Yolo. Luntrell would probably have received the nomination but a telegram from him, in which he stated that he should be a candidate before the Democratic Convention of the District. This action created some surprise among the friends. The Fourth Congressional District Convention was called together but, as many delegates had gone home, it voted to adjourn until July 14. They will meet at San Luis Obispo. Senator Lindsay, of Tulare, and D. B. Hoffman, of Los Angeles, were favorably mentioned by those present.

San Francisco Items.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 24th.—The examination of books and accounts of the defaulting Secretary, Miller, of the Western Development Company, continues. It is believed at the office of the company that the irregularities do not extend very far back. The investments in fancy stocks seem to have been made recently, and the earlier embezzlements were placed in city real estate, most of it of good character. It is thought that the amount of the deficiency will be nearly or quite made good, Miller rendering all the assistance in his power to make restitution. Considerable complaint has been made of the Zanjero reported sales of water permits for June, $1,178 05. Filed. Mr. Madigan reported a break in zanja No. 3. Referred to the Committee on Lands.

A petition from Citizens' Convention was presented, asking an appropriation to assist in the celebration of the Fourth of July. The sum of $300 was allowed.

A Committee consisting of Messrs. The committee on fire and water were authorized to rent premises on corner of First and Main street, for engine house at rate of $45 per month.

The vote on the discharge of officer Toomey, stood; ayes, Huber, Lichtenberger, Mullally, Corrao, Mullally; noes, Workman, Leahy, Teed, Wolfskill and Robinson. Vote a tie and motion lost. The matter was finally referred to a special Committee, comprising Messrs. Lichtenberger, Workman and Robinson.

Mr. Tuttle has two elegant bath-rooms nearly ready at Santa Monica. Mr. Rowland has harvested seven acres.

The railroad is twenty miles beyond Spadra.

Judge Story has become a permanent resident.

The Wheeler Expedition has a fete at San Gabriel Mission to-morrow.

The Mexican war veterans meet next Monday.

The Episcopalians attended church yesterday.

Hon. W. W. Bowers of San Diego, Collector of that port, was in the city yesterday.

Some elegant furnished rooms in the Kimball mansion for rent. See advertisement.

The Masonic Committee deserves the thanks of the brothers who paraded for the precaution taken to sprinkle the streets.

The Sauret troupe arrived on the Orizaba yesterday, and are registered at the St. Charles Hotel. Their array of baggage on the sidewalk was a terror to the porter.

Cambell's feed and livery stable, 47 Alamo street, caters to the wants of the public in the most satisfactory manner. A fashionable hack always on hand, and the stable open night and day.

The members of Golden Rule Lodge are notified that the election of officers takes place this evening.

Dr. Winston is the only surviving member, we are informed, of the first Masonic Lodge of Los Angeles.

Mr. John Archibald, of the San Francisco Savings Union, has loaned $100,000 at 12 per cent. interest during the past two weeks.

Downey Lodge, No. 220, of Los Nietos, came in with fourteen members yesterday. Their names will be found in the report.

The Sauret Troupe give a pleasing entertainment to-night, and should have a full house. The troupe is composed of musical geniuses, and we know their merit will be appreciated by our people.

A little boy, Walter Greenwood, eight years old, who came in with his father to see the procession yesterday, was lost and Marshal Carrillo is taking care of him. His father lives up Arroyo Seco about six miles.

Owing to recent illness, Mr. Furlong of Orange declines to be Reader at the forthcoming celebration, July 4th. He regrets that the notice of appointment failed to reach him in time to reply before publication of proceedings. Had the message been received, the committee would have suffered no embarrassment.

A Fine Residence.

The capitalist who erects a substantial business house or an elegant residence, is almost as much a public benefactor as he who endows a college or charity. The business palace is a substantial testimonial to the permanency of the city, and the handsome residence a standing compliment to the taste of the people. The faith of merchants is shown by the style of their stores, and the beauty and taste of the mansion exhibit the refinement of the people.

These thoughts were suggested yesterday as we passed along the North side of Fourth st. between Spring and Main, and discovered the elegant residence of Mr. H. W. Hellman, which is now almost finished. Mr. Hellman has selected one of the most central locations of the city, on a prominent street and surrounded by elegant mansions and grounds. His house is a picturesque frame cottage, elevated about four feet from the level, commodious and complete, with all modern conveniences. For comfort, we have not seen its superior and in fine finish it exhibits the aesthetic taste of the owner. It is a house of eight apartments, all high, roomy and convenient. His double parlors are gems of rooms, suggestive in their very appearance of luxury and ease. The sliding doors, grates, marble mantels, bay-windows, etc., are such as one would expect to see in the palatial residences of the East. The sitting-room, chambers, kitchen, pantry, store-room, servants' room, bath-room and hall are finished with all the modern appointments, making his house one of the most complete in the city. The cost, when finished, will be about $60,000, and Mr. Hellman will then be fixed, we hope, for a long life in his cozy home, where he can rest under his own vine and fig tree.

The architecture of the house is the work of Kysor & Mathews, who have recently made the plans for most of our largest stores and prettiest residences. Mr. C. Chisholm is the carpenter, Messrs. McLeau & Bryson are the plasterers, Mr. Moran is the painter, and Mr. Barrows the plumber and gas-fitter. The mechanics have done their work well, the job being a credit to them, as well as a monument to Mr. H. W. Hellman's taste and liberality.

THE KNIGHTS TEMPLAR.

The column was headed by an escort of Knights Templar, under the charge of Eminent Grand Commander H. S. Orme, in full dress uniform. The nodding plumes and bright swords of the successors of the ancient crusaders made a pleasant picture and formed a fitting escort to the Blue Lodges, which were celebrating the anniversary of one of the patron saints of the Order.

THE BLUE LODGES.

The members of Los Angeles and Pentapolis Lodges were soon in marching column, the visitors having a prominent place in the centre. An examination of the ranks showed us that many of our prominent citizens were following the Masonic standard, and we have no hesitation in saying that the Masonic procession yesterday contained as much wealth and worth as will ever be found at one time in any procession in Los Angeles. The banker walked side by side with the mechanic, the merchant was out-ranked frequently by the farmer, the attorney and the preacher walked hand in hand, though their occupations are so different. It was a living illustration that Masons meet on the level.

THE ORATOR OF THE DAY.

After the head of the column reached the Plaza a halt was ordered and the Grand Marshal and his aids opened the ranks and entered the St. Charles Hotel to pay their respects to the Orator of the Day, Rev. I. S. Kallloch. After a cordial interchange of compliments, he was escorted through the Masonic line to the baroque in waiting at the Plaza, in which he took the President of the Day, S. C. Foy, the Chaplain, A. W. Edelman, Past Master Edward Evey and W. T. Sayward, of Riverside, were seated. After music by the two bands a counter-march was made and the Knights Templar escorted the Lodges down Main street. The music by Enterprise band, Izert, leader, and Peiperburg's band was of the most pleasing character and gave the crowds of spectators a musical feast quite unusual.

THE SPECTATORS.

During the long line of march the streets were filled with spectators, all evincing much interest in the proceedings. Some, perhaps, for the first time saw many prominent citizens among the honored fraternity. The silence was only unbroken by the music of the bands and the determined tread of the three hundred Masons in line. Better order was never seen, and it speaks for the city of Los Angeles, that such a procession, with such an influx of strangers should pass off without accident or disturbance.

THE M. E. CHURCH, SOUTH.

On reaching the end of the march, the Southern Methodist Church, the lines were again opened, and the orator and the officers of the day passed through and occupied seats on the stage, the Knights and brethren following. The church was a ready full, and it was with the greatest difficulty that places were obtained for the members on the floor, and for the bands in the gallery. The pulpit was occupied by President, S. C. Foy; the orator, Rev. I. S. Kallloch; W. T. Sayward, of Riverside; Past Master, Evey; Vice Presidents, J. D. Bicknell, Geo. Hinds, Theodore Reiser, C. C. Cummings, D. A. Reed; Chaplain, A. W. Edelman; Grand Marshal, S. Prager; Marshals aids, Ben A. Steward; T. W. Temple, A. H. Denkel, M. Ryan, C. Meyer.

THE CHOR.

The vocal music was the great accessory of the entertainment. Too much praise cannot be given to Dr. McKee, for his indefatigable efforts to get a first class choir. He succeeded well, and the ladies and gentlemen composing the choir will always have a place in the Masonic memory for their admirable music yesterday. It was composed of Mrs. Genl. Stoneman, Misses Mattie Wheeler, and Jennie Hill, Profs. Havell and Falkenau, Signor Marra and Messrs. J. F. Hawley and Mohr.

As we came from the band opened the exercises. The following opening ode was admirably rendered by the choir.

Come brothers of the plumb and square,
Come join in cheerful song;
Let every heart and voice prepare
The glad notes to prolong.
We are brothers by a mystic tie,
We're brothers true and true;
Then let us sing as we go on high—
God speed Freemasonry.

In love we meet, in love we part,
And friendship dwells within each heart
That owns the craft divine,
And the walk among the stars of earth.
We steady keep our way;
With Faith and Hope we wait the birth
Of our immortal day.

Prayer was then offered in a feeling manner by Rev. A. W. Edelman, after which the choir sang, "Heavenly Father, Wilt Thou Lead Us?" in the following words:

Heavenly Father, wilt Thou lead us
Thro' this pilgrimage of tears
Thro' the changes Thou'st decreed us,
Till our last great change appears?
When temptation's darts assail us,
When in dubious paths we stray,
Let Thy goodness never fail us,
Lead us in Thy perfect way.

In the hour of pain and anguish,
In the hour when death's shadows near,
Suffer not our souls to languish,
Suffer not our spirits to fear.

And when mortal life is ended,
May we walk among the blest,
And by all the saints attended,
Ever in Thy presence rest.

President Foy in a few well chosen remarks then introduced the orator of the day, I. S. Kallloch, who was received with loud applause, the brethren standing.

THE ADDRESS.

The orator commenced slowly and cautiously, but soon warming with his theme, forgot himself in soaring flights of eloquence. For about three quarters of an hour he kept the spectators enthralled by a flow of beautiful thoughts, expressed in the choicest language, and there was a sincere regret, that he did not speak longer. As he spoke without notes we can only present an imperfect sketch of it, as follows:

Antiquity is not necessarily venerable. Because a thing is old is no certain sign that it is sacred; for there are old vices and follies, as well as virtues and graces. Our times are better than old times. Old fogies are out of the procession. A suitable reverence for age is befitting the young; a blind devotion to it is the idolatry of fools. Still, whatever is good grows venerable with years and fragrant in its memories. Old books are good to read, old friends are good to love, and old wine is said to be good to drink. Christianity points to its age as one of the proofs of its immortality. So Masons glory in the age and perpetuity of their Order, as one of the evidences of its worth and indestructibility.

To begin with, it is not impious or irreverent to say that there is such a thing as the Masonry of God. Though the spirit world had existed from everlasting, night and chaos reigned over all the earth. But Jehovah spoke the illuminating word, and the morning stars sang and all the sons of God shouted for joy around the cradle in which a new-born world was laid. And there was design in its construction, as the range of planets and the sweep of comets prove. There was proportion, too, as exhibited in Jupiter with his moons and Saturn with his girdle of light. The Masonry of our own planet is written on every mountain and inscribed on every rock. This is the Masonry of God.

PHYSICAL MASONRY.

The earth would have been a vast howling wilderness without the hand of man. Physical Masonry crowns the banks of lordly rivers with noble cities. Physical Masonry rears the home, that sweet and sacred asylum, however humble or however homely, which reconciles man to his lot and woman to her sorrows. Without this, man would have remained a dweller in tents and follower of herds forever. But Physical Masonry appeared, and there arose those colossal structures of the East, the very fragments of which are viewed by modern travelers with an idolatry almost equal to that which reared them. Such is the work of Physical Masonry.

ITS ANTIQUITY.

The fact that mystic signs and symbols similar to those by which one brother may now know another in the dark as well as in the light, existed at an early day, leads us to infer that far back in the ages Masonic brothers everywhere could meet upon the level and part upon the square. The arts flourished in an early age. Noah constructed the ark of almost fabulous dimensions and navigated it upon a shoreless sea, and when the flood had subsided and the Patriarch from the old world stepped out upon the misty mountains of the new, his first work was the erection of that altar which glistened with the hues of the first rainbow. The construction of temples and cities and the progress of the arts founded upon a knowledge of geometry which followed, show that whatever else they lost, they retained the use of the working tools of our ancient craft. King Solomon reduced the tools to form and order. Over 200,000 workmen were employed in the construction of the temple for upwards of seven years, but so thoroughly were they divided under different names and stations—Entered Apprentices, Fellow-Crafts and Master Masons;—their hours of labor and refreshment appointed; their wages fixed and the manner of receiving them; so admirably had the Phoenician stone-cutter in the quarry and the Hebrew workmen on the sides of Lebanon done their work, that at least the peerless building came together without the sound of ax or hammer or any tool of iron, having more the appearance of being the handiwork of the Supreme Architect of the Universe than of human hands. The Temple was destroyed by Nebuchadnezzar about four hundred years after its completion. Zerubbabel built the second, which was far inferior to the first and was destroyed by Titus seventy years after the coming of Christ. Seven hundred years before Christ colleges of artisans were imported into Rome by the lawgiver Numa, whose symbolic ceremonies and secret signs of recognition were not unlike ours. Hence they spread over Europe under the name of Travelling Free-Masons, constructed the cathedrals, parishes, churches, monasteries and works of art, near which they erected their huts or "lodges," which latter name has designated the assembly of Masons until this day. In the year 926 Prince Edwin established the first English Grand Lodge at York, and from that gathering English and American Lodges derive their authority.

It is further significant of the antiquity of our Order that among many ancient Indian tribes in this country there exist certain signs and tokens which have been handed down from immemorial generations. De Witt Clinton, once Grand High Priest of the Order in the United States—one of the immortal names who, like Washington, Jefferson and Lafayette, honored themselves by honoring Masonry—speaks of the existence of such mystic signs and rites among the Senecas, the Oneidas, and the Cayugas, which they claimed to be coeval in their existence with the dawn of creation. Now, let any man call up the various nations of the earth—their rise, their splendor and their ruin. Greece, trodden under the foot of Imperial Rome, and Rome in turn trodden under the horses' hoofs of Northern barbarians; the tribes of men, passing from ruler to ruler, changing their religion, their domestic institutions, their household gods, their immemorial customs, and heaving and tossing and passing away beneath the frown of God, and then let him remember that through all this Masonry has existed, preserving unchanged its customs, its tokens, its secrets—above all, its organic unity and purpose—never so strong, so numerous, so hopeful, as it is to-day, and how can he resist the conviction that an undecay-ing principle of strength is at the bottom of such undecaying tenacity of life? Masonry is imperishable. You cannot kill a truth. It is immortal, and all beside it is weakness. It has encountered obloquy, reproach and persecution. Its lodges have been broken into, its retreats violated, its charters taken away, its insignia destroyed, its members scattered; but its secret has remained and its principle is indestructible. Every Masonic heart is a lodge in itself—a lodge where its inviolable principles are securely deposited.

MORAL MASONRY.

The pearl is in the casket, and beneath all the signs and symbols of moral meaning and purpose. Could I cause to pass in review before you all the uncounted multitudes who have been lifted up and strengthened by its blessed ministrations, the sick and languishing who have been watched over and cared for, the heart-broken and afflicted who have been comforted and cheered, the widows and orphans who have found God's promise fulfilled in Masonic protection and support, the dark homes that have been lighted, the sad hearts that have been soothed, the scalding tears that have been wiped away,—I should need to say no more; your hearts would instinctively leap to honor an institution which has left its impress deepest wherever human suffering was keenest or human need the neediest.

OBJECTIONS.

It is objected that all Masons do not live up to this high ideal. Neither do all church members to theirs. Christ found a devil among the twelve apostles; it is rumored that now and then one of them gets into the church and even into the pulpit; is it so very strange if we occasionally catch a Tartar? The mysteries of the Order are a stumbling block to many. If it is so good, why need it be so
